J. E. Jones is now Grand Master of the Masonic Order in Nevada, owing to the death of Grand Master Hubbs.

"Who are those two men scrapping on the street?"

"I believe they belong to the order of Chosen Friends."

The horses attached to French & Winters' delivery wagon indulged in a runaway yesterday, making things very lively for a while. The damage, however, was very slight.

The most patent humbug of the past week is the Eva Fay woman trying to pose as the successor of Madame Blavatsky. The Theosophists repudiate her as a fraud and charlatan.

In investigating the Jessup case it transpired that the young man had in some way saved $25,000 out of the $100,000. It looks as if he had actually robbed the lawyers out of 25 per cent of the estate. He must have been a very shrewd and very cruel man.

The APPEAL says the Silver party of Ormsby has carried out its pledges to the people last fall in the matter of breaking up the fraudulent contract system.—Journal.

Everybody else in Carson admits the fact and endorses the good work. It has been a long hard fight and isn't over yet. It will not be over until the last remnant of the old boodle gang is downed.

To-morrow will be the commencement of taking evidence in the water suit of the Union Mill & Mining Company vs. the Carson Valley ranchers. The evidence will be taken before T. J. Edwards, who was appointed Court Commissioner for that purpose and the first evidence will be taken in Carson on the part of the Mill Company.

The churches of Chicago insisted that the Fair should be closed on Sunday. They thought they would drive the people to the churches. But it didn't, and the effect was just what the secular papers predicted, it drove the visitors into the saloons. The visitors at the Fair recognize the fact that the preachers are responsible for the closed gates and they resent the sectarian impertinence.

The Douglass Creamery Company has secured a twelve-acre tract of land on the Frevert ranch, just west of Carson Henningsen's dwelling. It is a half mile due east of the Carson Valley Creamery. C. M. Henningsen and Fred Heise have returned from San Francisco, where they went on business connected with the new creamery. They expect to push work right along.

The Populists of Kansas are all turning against Mrs. Leese for refusing as a member of the State Board of Charities to unseat a Republican who was Superintendent of the Soldiers' Orphans' Home. She said he had nursed her two brothers on the battle field and he would never be displaced by her vote. In her refusal to vote against her friend she showed the womanly characteristic of gratitude which everybody ought to possess. Had she done anything else she would have merited nothing but contempt. It must be a very narrow minded class of people who expect partisanship to smother the milk of human kindness and gratitude in a woman.

Attention Horsemen.

There will be a meeting of the Carson Turf and Driving Club on Monday night at the Court House. Full attendance desired.

Benton's Liniment.

Which has been used in Carson for over twenty-five years, has saved many an ache and pain to those who know it. It is really intended for horses but works with the same magical effect on the human. It is a powerful remedy and for rheumatism is the king of the world. Aches knocked out in short order. No horseman should be without a bottle. n6tf

A NEW SILVER PAPER.

Bi-Metallists Will Have an Organ in Chicago.

Ogden, May 13.—One of the results of the Trans-Mississippi Congress, that adjourned in this city on the 28 of last month, is the organization of a National Silver Paper.

The prospectus says: "It has been decided by a number of gentlemen to start a silver paper to be published at Chicago. It will be an illustrated weekly paper, with a subscription price of $2.00 per annum.

It will be intelligent and aggressive, and by cuts, cartoons and illustrations in addition to its reading matter, will make silver a live issue. It will advocate the free coinage of silver as it existed prior to 1873.

Under the head of press opinion it will copy editorials from the leading Western papers that are now handling this subject so ably.

Its circulation will be pushed into every portion of the United States, and special attention will be given to Congressman Harter's District in Ohio, and all other districts where gold bugs are candidates for Congress. Premiums will be given and every ingenuity adopted to widen its circulation, and solicitors will be put in the field in all parts of the United States.

Mr. W. H. Harvey, late Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Trans-Mississippi Congress, will be in charge and control its editorial and business management.

The first number of the paper will appear about June 10th.

Among the endorsements on the prospectus are the following:

I believe that Mr. W. H. Harvey is qualified perfectly, by education, instinct and ability, to undertake the work he has laid out to do. I believe his character entitles him to the utmost respect and confidence.

C. C. GOODMAN.

Editor Salt Lake Tribune.

I heartily approve the movement and the man at the head of it. I believe it must be a success and result in great good to the cause.

T. M. PATTERSON.

Editor Rocky Mountain News.

U. S. SENATE, Washington.

The enterprise proposed, with Mr. W. H. Harvey in charge, will supply a want which has been severely felt by all friends of honest money. He is the right man, and is entitled to the support of all friends of the popular cause.

WM. M. STEWART.

Mr. Harvey left here to-day for Chicago, where his address will be at the Chamber of Commerce building. The name of the paper has not yet been announced.

Here's Richness.

ED. APPEAL:—You have often stated that you never refuse a communication access to your columns.

You claim that Mr. Bray is prohibited from repairing roads. Now, the law says that he shall not be interested in the "building or improvement of roads" but no mention is made of his being prohibited from repairing of roads. I hope you will be fair enough to publish this, out of justice to Mr. Bray, whom I think you are attacking without cause.

JUSTICE.

Although the writer of the above does not send his name to the APPEAL we print it as a sample of the technicalities Bray's friends are advancing for his defense. If Bray's "repairing" of a road is not an "improvement," then it seems that the county is very foolish in paying anything for it.

THE TELEPHONE.

Hello, John Mackay.

Hello.

A—What has become of that big south end deal?

M—I was just getting ready to pump out the water when I got that ball in my back. Just now we are doing pretty well with the Potosi deal.

A—Would you advise us to unload?

M—I ain't givin' pointers now, I'm going to Europe. Better see Dick Dey.

Hello, Major Dennis.

Hello.

A—How did the Bi-Chloride Institute affect you?

M. D.—Fine. I haven't touched a drop in four weeks and I attend church every Sunday. My baritone voice is a great help to the choir.

Hello, Hagerman.

Hello.

A—Is it so that you have scooped in the Miat?

H—No wire from Washington yet, but I sort 'er feel it in my bones that I have a lead pipe cinch on it. Don't mention it however as those dead things crawl.

Hello, Judge Rising.

Hello.

A—How do you feel?
R—Awfully rocky. I feel as if I couldn't get my head into the Cinch Room of the Palace.

A—Is Lon Hamilton there?

R—Where, in the Cinch Room?

A—Yes.

R—I'll look, but if he ain't there where will I look?

A—In the Morgue.

French Prunes.

The French Prune is destined to be the reliable fruit tree of Nevada. It is being tried with splendid results in Northern California and Oregon. It thrives where there is cold and frost and never succumbs to either.

There are several French Prunes growing in this city, the best one probably being in Jake Klein's yard. They never fail of bearing.

When the frost kills everything else, the prune is as prolific as ever. You can't lose the fruit. If you neglect it and it drops to the ground it dries in the sun and is marketable. The Carson Valley farmers are setting out a good many acres in prunes for the few planted several years ago are proving a great success. It is impossible to lose a crop after the trees are five years old and insects do not molest them. A man with five acres of French prunes is fixed for life.

Adapted Himself to Circumstances.

In order to discourage too many visitors, the APPEAL office only uses one chair and that is the one occupied by the editor.

Yesterday Rev. Hyslop came in with a church notice and there was nothing for him to sit down on except one of Jake Klein's empty beer kegs. He adapted himself to circumstances, however, and discussed theology while seated on the beer keg.

We like a preacher who isn't afraid to come into an office as unkempt as ours and talk the Word from the top of a beer keg. If Klein will keep the office supplied with kegs there will always be a cosy seat for divines of any denomination in the APPEAL office.

A Jolly Party.

The Silver State says that thirteen restaurant waiters from San Francisco went through Saturday in a freight car bound for Chicago. They chartered the car for $105, making the cost to each a little over $8, and they will reach Chicago in thirteen days. The car is fitted up with an eye to comfort, carpets and rugs being on the floor, and a kitchen fully equipped occupying one portion. They expect to remain during the fair.

A Case for Mills.

It is a matter of common rumor in this city that a man named Jackson is the man who traps fish at Washoe Lake and sends his boys in town to sell them. This is a violation of the fish law and a matter for Commissioner Mills to look after.

Change of Proprietorship.

Yesterday the Ormsby House changed hands W. W. Moore the partner of Bob Gray has purchased Gray's half interest. Moor is an experienced man at the business and will make many improvements.
